

NEW DEAL FILMS

Living New Deal Project

May 2013

The following list of New Deal films provides information regarding one hundred unique titles, with links to online footage wherever possible. With a few exceptions, all of the films collected below were produced by and for New Deal agencies and programs as promotional, documentary, or training films.

Each entry aims to offer general information about each title, including which New Deal agency sponsored the film and a brief description of its content. Rather than a comprehensive catalog, this list sketches out in broad strokes the rich body of cinematic work supported by New Deal programs. The films on this list highlight the direct fruits of a public commitment to employment relief and the arts.

Researchers interested in further exploring New Deal era films – including those related to or about the New Deal though not explicitly produced by or for New Deal agencies – are encouraged to pursue the resources included in the reference section at the end of the list.

Special thanks goes to Megan and Rick Prelinger of the Prelinger Library, where the majority of research for this project was performed.
